

Late Monday, the attorney general's office released 2,200 e-mails between Attorney General Marc Dann; his aide, Jessica Utovich; and others.

The staff at The Vindicator organized representative emails by topic, using long black lines to separate different exchanges. The e-mails in this section reflect chatty banter between Dann and Utovich.

To read the emails in the order in which they were sent, go to the bottom of each section separated by a black line and read up.

Jessica – You didn't offend me. I thought it was funny.

I'm sorry, I couldn't put the event in the email due to its nature, and I wasn't going to be near a private computer anytime soon, so I just sent it to Marc b/c he could. I should have called then, I'm sorry. I didn't mean to make it sound like you couldn't decide for yourself, I just wanted to have Marc ask you since I was unable to yesterday. And, now, there is a change with the schedule, so it was all for nothing and I'm really sorry if I offended you.

Sincerely,
Jessica
